

Biography - Dr. David Gallop, DAU Director of Acquisition Workforce Education Partnerships

David L. Gallop is DAU's Director of Acquisition Workforce Education Partnerships. He serves in this Congressionally mandated position to enhance the capabilities of the Defense Acquisition University to support educational, training, and research activities, enabling acquisition missions of the Department of Defense. Before joining DAU in 2009, Gallop was the Director of Programs at Athena Technologies. He served in various tactical and acquisition positions in his 21-year Army career, including an ACAT-1C program manager. Gallop has PhD and MS degrees in Systems Engineering from the George Washington University.