Dr. Marc Grinberg
Associate Research Professor, BG Charles Young
Research, Analysis, and Lessons Learned Institute
Defense Security Cooperation University

Dr. Marc Grinberg is a political scientist and Associate Research Professor in the Brigadier General Charles Young Research, Analysis, and Lessons Learned Institute at the Defense Security Cooperation University (DSCU). In this role, he leads initiatives to organize and build the knowledge base on security cooperation. Dr. Grinberg's research spans international relations and social science methodology, with occasional forays into political philosophy when life allows for such indulgences. He previously served as special assistant to the Deputy Secretary of State and as acting director and strategist in the Office of Strategy, Planning, Analysis and Risk at the Department of Homeland Security. Dr. Grinberg earned a Ph.D. in Political Science from Stanford University, an M.Phil in Political Theory from Oxford University, and an A.B. in Politics from Princeton University.
